JANICE PORTER

"He was a jolly fellow; a ready tongue was his." How well this quote describes Mr. Walton who in the triple role of teacher, friend, and advisor has spiced our high school years with his wit and enriched them with his wisdom. His classes in Latin, English, and Drama were instructive, delightful, and unforgettable. He has willingly devoted his time and energy to the Timaron as one of the advisors.

Gratefully we, the class of 1963, dedicate this yearbook to you, Mr. Walton, as a token of our appreciation for all your aid and inspiration to us.

Members of the Class of 1963:

The philosophy of ancient Greece was to strive always for excellence and to surpass all others. As students in a democratic society and in an ever shrinking world, we must adopt at least a portion of this theory if we are to survive and to maintain our position of academic leadership.

However, of necessity, we must remember the words of the immortal poet Pindar: "Strive not to become a god; mortal aims befit mortal man." Although we strive for excellence, we must be ever aware that excessive pride or arrogance may deter us from our true goals in life.

"Man by nature desires to know," Aristotle.

Charles L. Manos
Principal

Members of the Class of 1963:

Modern man has the right to be proud of his heritage, a legacy bequeathed to him by ancient Greece. For it was a half a century before the coming of Christ, in Athens, a town on the western border of the then settled civilized world that our western world was conceived. There was born a passion for truth, beauty, simplicity, and freedom—in the midst of barbarian superstition, despotism and splendor. In a few brief years, culminating in the golden age of Pericles, the gems of literature, science, philosophy, art, democracy and religion—the major achievements of our modern world—developed as humanly perfect as they could be.

It remains only for you and your generation to accept and to pass along this torch of culture flaming brightly to disperse the darkness of the eastern world communism.

Joseph L. King,
Vice-principal

Twelve seemingly long school years are drawing to a close for the class of 1963. The learnings you have acquired during this time are but working tools which are now about to be put to the test. Your real education will be shown in the path you take, in the strength you develop, and the service you perform with these working tools.

My very best wishes to each of you.

Editors' Note

For ten years Homer's Odysseus fought his way home through wind, storm, and war. At the end of his perilous journey, he was reunited with his faithful wife Penelope, and his kingdom was reclaimed.

We, the class of 1963, are about to set out on the rocky roads of life. It is the hope of the 1963 Timaron Editors that our classmates will surmount all obstacles as courageously and diligently as Odysseus did. We should all receive inspiration from the persistent Odysseus to work toward our goals and to endure patiently our hardships.

Class History

In relation to the centuries of human civilization, September, 1959, is only a minute distance away; but in relation to the group of students from Carver and Middleboro who entered Memorial High School in that year, it stands within the aeons of the past.

In that first year we were led by the class officers: Josiah Cushing, President; Margaret Michael, Vice-President; Elizabeth Weston, Secretary; and Ann McCready, Treasurer. We chose Margaret Michael and Robert Stuart to be the first members of our class to enter the "Silver M" Society.

In 1960 we assumed greater responsibilities and a higher position in the school. Our officers were: John McCrillis, President; Margaret Michael, Vice-President; Elizabeth Weston, Secretary; and Brenda Pollard, Treasurer. We selected John McCrillis and Mary Sukus to the honor of "Silver M." Our project for this year was the Christmas Dance, "Winter Wonderland," which was produced under the guidance of Miss Thomas, our class advisor.

The next year we were Juniors, and we were honored as upperclassmen with the receipt of our class rings. Our officers were: John McCrillis, President; Margaret Michael, Vice-President; Elizabeth Weston, Secretary; and Brenda Pollard, Treasurer. Allen Thomas and Elizabeth Weston were chosen to become "Silver M" members. In the spring, we sponsored the Junior Prom, "Shangri-La," with the help of Miss Whitty, our class advisor. Also at this time thirteen of our classmates were inducted into the National Honor Society.

Finally in the fall of 1962, we reached the final stage of our high school education—we were Seniors, and this was our last year. Our officers were again: John McCrillis, President; Margaret Michael, Vice-President; Elizabeth Weston, Secretary; and Brenda Pollard, Treasurer. In the fall we sponsored the Coronation Dance where Rebecca Shaw was crowned the Football Queen by the football co-captains, Jon Phelps and Russell Smith. As the year progressed, we chose Josiah Cushing and Russell Smith to wear the "Silver M" pin. Scholastically we obtained the recognition of having five of our number, Elizabeth Buck, Josiah Cushing, John McCrillis, Marsha Pentt, and Kathleen Rudolph, win National Merit Scholarship Letters of Commendation. And, in the spring, we presented the Senior play, "Mistress of Mellyn," under the direction of Mrs. Batchelder.

Now, at the time of this writing, we look to the coming days of Senior Week in which activities will be guided by our advisor, Mr. King. Then, in the final moments, we shall form in two lines—one green, the other white—to receive our diplomas, the possession of which will signify the end of our high school days. Our journey into adult life will be furthered; and we will strive for higher goals as expressed in our class motto, "He who conquers, endures."

ACTIVITIES

Senior Play "Mistress of Mellyn"

On March 15, the Senior Play cast transported an attentive audience back to the 1880's, and to the TreMellyn mansion in Cornwall, England. While visiting this "gloomy barn," as it was referred to by one of the leading characters, the audience chanced to witness most peculiar events. These events included a theft, a suspicious mishap, and an attempted homicide, interspersed with the wanderings of an idiot. Fortunately, at the fall of the curtain, the audience was retransported to the correct era, just in time to make the hall resound with applause.

Admission into the National Honor Society is based on four qualities: Scholarship, Leadership, Service, and Character. This year's members were taken into the society as Juniors at the induction ceremony last spring. Although the group is small, the members have been very active this year. The Scholarship Committee, under the leadership of Chairman Elizabeth Buck, has made plans for a College Night Panel during the spring vacation. Under the chairmanship of Marsha Penti, the Leadership Committee has been working on a program by which scholastic letters will be awarded to the students who obtain the highest grades in M.H.S. American flags have lined the streets of Middleboro on all national holidays due to the labors of the Service Committee, under the leadership of John McCrillis. The Character Committee, under the leadership of Laureen Mullen, has been working in conjunction with the Student Council on plans for a Youth Conduct Code for the students of M.H.S. Lastly, the Ways and Means Committee, under the leadership of Chairman Janice Porter, had a very successful cake sale in December, participated in the school-wide candy sale, and conducted a paper drive in the spring.

Girls' League is an organization to which every girl in Memorial High School may belong. After becoming a member, each girl can participate in the many Girls' League activities by serving on the refreshment, entertainment, or decoration committees. These activities consist of five mass meetings at which speakers on various subjects come to talk to the girls, the annual Christmas play, the Girls' League Dance, the spring Mother and Daughter Party, and the outing at the close of school. The planning for these many projects is done by the executive board which consists of the officers and the representatives from each homeroom.

Under the direction of Miss MacDonald, the faculty advisor, the Newswriters' Club publicizes school happenings through a column in the Middleboro Gazette. The weekly news of M.H.S. is also given to the Brockton Enterprise and the New Bedford Standard Times by the diligent club members.

The club's duties do not begin and end with the mere writing of news. Editing and publishing are also an important part of the club's activities and are carried out by the editors and typing staff. All phases of producing a weekly column in the area newspapers require a great amount of work which these journalistic students supply.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Moore, the business girls have Dorothy Silvia and Sandra Conant as Head Supervisors. Janice Thompson, Martha Standish, and Ann Kopitz serve as Heads of Supplies.

These girls prepare money collected from school organizations for Memorial High School bank deposits. They have charge of the money from school lunches and prepare it for deposit.

On each girl's office day she performs extra duties such as typing masters and stencils.

Without the faithful business girls and their advisor, Mrs. Moore, the office work done at MHS would not go so smoothly.

Coronation . . .

As the 1962 football season drew to a close, tension mounted. The big question in the corridors of MHS was, "Who will be the football queen?" Finally, on November 17 came the Coronation Dance, sponsored by the Senior Class. The question still plagued the couples on the floor and those scattered around the auditorium as they listened to the fine music of the Dance Band under the direction of Mr. Nelson. Then the big moment arrived! The seven contestants—Phyllis Carmichael, Donna Fitzsimmons, Margaret Michael, Susan Murphy, Rebecca Shaw, Elizabeth Weston, and Sally Peckham—were escorted to the stage to await the decision. Becky Shaw was a lovely queen!

"And ne'er did Grecian chisel trace a Maid, a Naiad, or a Grace of finer form or lovelier face . . . than these."

Under the expert coaching of Mr. James, the Cross Country team had a most successful season. Josiah Cushing and John Williams served as Co-captains. The team finished in second place in the Old Colony League, losing only to Rockland and Wareham. Course and School Records were broken twice this season. Josiah Cushing and Charles Lang were Middleboro's claim to fame.

"The sine of what is equal to the cosine of what?"

"Do you suppose it's really hot?"

"Ah, rest, blissful rest!"

"Books hold the key to all learning."
